GOLF COOL-SEASON

As summer turns to fall, the challenges facing cool-season turf managers change. Using Bayer disease solutions NOW is critical to ensure satisfied golfers next spring.

PROBLEM: SNOW MOLD

Pink and gray snow molds are devastating turf diseases that occur on golf course putting greens, tees and fairways in the presence of snow cover. Look for tan patches with a pink border or light yellow to gray discolored areas.

BAYER SOLUTION

Mirage® Stressgard®

$15/gal Rebate

Broad-spectrum solution for key fairway diseases.

Bayer Utility PAK

Products: Interface® Stressgard and Mirage Stressgard.

Save 25%

vs. individual component products

PROBLEM: FAIRY RING

Fairy ring is a difficult disease to control. Look for a layer of white mycelia or a band of dry, brown-orange or yellowish material in the thatch, mat or soil layers. This helps to determine where to target the fungicide to control the disease.

PROBLEM: DOLLAR SPOT

Dollarspot is a widespread and very destructive turfgrass disease that can be observed throughout the year. Fall outbreaks are common due to disease-conducive temperatures, increases in moisture or a reduction in cool-season turfgrass vigor.
